Art Unit: 1632

1. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-19, drawn to a method of treating a vulnerable plaque associated with blood vessel of a patient by providing at least one gene therapy agent encoding at least one protein, administering the gene therapy agent to a target cell population, expressing the protein within the patient, and modifying the vulnerable plaque, wherein the gene therapy agent could be a plasmid, retrovirus vector, adenovirus vector and Herpes Simplex vectors etc.

Group II, claim(s) 20-28, drawn to a gene therapy agent for treating a vulnerable plaque associated with blood vessel of a patient, wherein the gene therapy agent comprises at least one polynucleic acid encoding at least one protein and administration of the gene therapy agent to a target cell population result in expression of the protein, wherein the gene therapy agent further comprises a plasmid, retrovirus vector, adenovirus vector and Herpes Simplex vectors etc.

The inventions listed as Groups I-II do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The special technical feature common to both groups I and II is the gene therapy agent comprising at least one polynucleic acid encoding at least one protein and administration of the gene therapy agent to a target cell population result in expression of the protein, wherein the gene therapy agent comprises a plasmid, retrovirus vector, adenovirus vector and Herpes Simplex vectors etc. Van Snick et al., 2002 (WO 02/083076 A2) discloses a gene therapy method for delivering a nucleic acid molecule encoding an IL-9 to cells ex vivo or in vivo via plasmids, viral vectors, such as adenoviral vectors, adeno-associated viral vectors, and retroviral vectors etc., and the IL-9 is expressed at levels that are sufficient to inhibit the initiation or progression of atherosclerotic plaque formation (e.g. p. 10). Therefore, no special technical feature has been contributed by the instant invention over the prior art. Thus, Groups I-II do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

2. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
